THE CITIZEN POLICE COMPLAINT COMMISSION

MISSION

The mission of the Citizen Police Complaint Commission (CPCC) is to promote an atmosphere of mutual trust and respect between the community and the Long Beach Police Department, and to ensure that professional police services continue in Long Beach.

ABOUT THE CPCC

On April 10, 1990, the voters of the City of Long Beach approved the creation of the CPCC by adding Sections 1150 – 1155 to the City Charter. This amendment authorized the CPCC to:

- Receive and provide an independent investigation/review of allegations of police misconduct with emphasis on excessive force, false arrest and complaints with racial or sexual overtones.
- Represent the Long Beach community by fairly and thoroughly reviewing the facts of an alleged incident.
- Recommend findings to the City Manager after a complaint has been investigated, reviewed and deliberated.

The CPCC is one of six Chartered Commissions established to provide feedback and input to the City Manager, Mayor and City Council on specified matters. Like all Commissions, the CPCC provides a rewarding opportunity for constituents to be directly involved in improving our community.

COMMISSIONERS

Appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by the City Council, the CPCC has 11 Commissioners: one per council district and two at-large. Commissioners broadly represent the racial, ethnic, religious, labor, business, age, gender, sexual orientation, and disabled members of the general public. Commissioners must reside in the City of Long Beach and can serve two, two-year terms.

The CPCC is a completely civilian organization whose findings and recommendations often provide valuable insight into the community's perception of the Police Department. This insight can assist with police personnel training and public relations. The CPCC is neither an advocate for the complainant nor for the police personnel. The CPCC cannot recommend discipline or penalty.

ANITRA DEMPSEY
Executive Director

Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council
City of Long Beach
333 West Ocean Boulevard, 14th Floor
Long Beach, CA 90802

Dear Mayor Foster and Members of the City Council:

I am pleased to provide for your review the Citizen Police Complaint Commission's (CPCC) 2011 and 2012 Annual Report, which details complaints received, investigated and closed by the CPCC during the 2011 and 2012 calendar years. For the first time, the report includes a distinction between the overall CPCC caseload, which includes cases from the current and previous years, and the number of new complaints filed by the public each year.

Thank you for your continued support of the CPCC. Commissioners, staff and I appreciate the confidence you have shown in the performance of our duties.

I acknowledge and thank the City Manager's Office for its support and assistance throughout the past years; the Commissioners who demonstrate tireless dedication to all aspects of the CPCC; the CPCC support staff; and the Long Beach Police Department, notably the Internal Affairs Division. Your professionalism, courtesy, cooperation and assistance are appreciated.

The CPCC continues to exhibit the highest standards of personal integrity, commitment, truthfulness and fortitude, inspiring trust from the community and setting examples for other police oversight boards.

I welcome your comments and will be available to answer questions or provide further information as requested.

Sincerely,

Anitra Dempsey
Executive Director

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

I am pleased to present the Citizen Police Complaint Commission's (CPCC) combined 2011 and 2012 Annual Reports, which contains the final statistics for cases initiated, received, reviewed and investigated by the Commission within the 2011 and 2012 calendar years.

The CPCC is authorized by City Charter to receive and investigate allegations of police misconduct with emphasis on excessive force, false arrest, and complaints with racial or sexual overtones. Complaints can be filed directly with CPCC staff by phone, email, mail or in person. Complaints can also be filed with Long Beach Police Department personnel.

Appointed by the Mayor and City Council, CPCC Commissioners are Long Beach residents who volunteer and are trained to review comprehensive reports and evidence related to complaints of misconduct. Closed session deliberations include thoughtful and often passionate viewpoints on behalf of all involved parties. While we have personal opinions, we are careful to consider all available facts before reaching a decision. We must abide by all laws, policies and procedures pertaining to all parties involved. Our findings are submitted to the City Manager on a monthly basis.

I would like to thank the Commission's Executive Director and support staff, the City Clerk's support staff, and the Internal Affairs Commander and staff for their hard work and commitment.

To my fellow Commissioners, I extend my genuine appreciation for your professionalism and honest dialogue. You have made this experience extremely rewarding to me by giving me perspectives that broaden my viewpoints and extend my capacity to serve all people.

In closing, I want to thank the Long Beach community for your honest feedback, recommendations and trust. We know that our work is not always easy, but it is necessary.

Respectfully,

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This report reflects the number and disposition of complaints received, investigated and reviewed by the Citizen Police Complaint Commission (CPCC) during the 2011 and 2012 calendar years. This report does not reflect the number of complaints and allegations actually received by the Long Beach Police Department during the same reporting period.

COMPLAINTS

During 2011, 230 cases (53 received by the CPCC and 177 received from the LBPD) were thoroughly reviewed by staff and the Commission. This represents a decrease in the caseload from 2010, which had 268 cases. Thirty-three cases, including one appeal, were presented to the Commission, which sustained 15 allegations and recommended other/training on 5 allegations during 10 monthly meetings. CPCC staff handled 74 “public assists,” which are phone calls, emails and/or walk-ins that did not rise to the level of a formal complaint. There were 283 new complaints filed by the public in 2011.

During 2012, 339 cases (71 received by the CPCC and 268 received from the LBPD) were thoroughly reviewed by staff and the Commission. This represents an increase in the caseload from 2011, which had 230 cases. Thirty-seven cases, including three appeals, were presented to the Commission, which sustained 12 allegations and recommended training on 21 allegations during 10 monthly meetings. CPCC staff handled 65 “public assists,” which are phone calls, emails and/or walk-ins that did not rise to the level of a formal complaint. There were 239 new complaints filed by the public in 2012.

TRAINING

In 2011 and 2012, Commissioners received training and/or special presentations on the following topics: Use of Force, Racial Profiling, Laws of Arrest, Force Options, Electronic Control Devices, Search and Seizure, the Mental Evaluation Team (MET) and TI Simulator, which allows the Commissioners to participate in “shoot/don’t shoot” scenarios.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

The CPCC staff and Commissioners conducted outreach to educate the community about its mission and functions. Collectively, the CPCC participated in and provided informational brochures at resource fairs, meetings and public forums, and made presentations to students, neighborhood groups and community based organizations. Additionally, Commissioners were provided with a pocket guide, Quick Facts for Commissioners, as a resource when addressing community groups about the CPCC.

CONCLUSION

In 2011, the CPCC saw a 14 percent decrease in its caseload compared to the previous year. In 2012, the CPCC saw a 47 percent increase in its caseload compared to the previous year.

INVESTIGATIVE PROCESS

Every person has the right to make a complaint against any employee of the Long Beach Police Department. The complaint can be made to a supervisor, the Watch Commander, Internal Affairs Division (IA) or via the Citizen Police Complaint Commission (CPCC). A complaint can be made in person, by telephone, by mail, email or by a person not directly involved in the incident. Complaints can be made anonymously.

After IA completes its investigation, the cases are forwarded to the Deputy Chiefs and/or Chief of Police for disposition. The cases are then forwarded to the CPCC for an independent review. During the CPCC investigative process, any new information uncovered is shared with IA.

The full Commission meets on the second Thursday of each month at 6:30 p.m., in the City Council Chamber, 333 West Ocean Boulevard, Long Beach. Complainants and community members are welcome to attend the Open Session and address the Commission. The Commission adjourns Open Session and re-convenes in Executive Session to discuss the cases and recommend findings on each allegation. Because each complaint is a personnel matter, the public is not allowed to attend the Executive Session. The City Manager reviews both the Commission and IA findings, and provides the final disposition to the complainant in writing.

The average time it takes to process and investigate a complaint is between three and six months, however, each case is unique. Complex or lengthy investigations can take up to one year from the date the complaint is filed.

Resolved or frivolous complaints are reviewed and closed by staff with a No Further Action (NFA) finding. Examples of NFA complaints are:

- The accused is not an employee of the Long Beach Police Department.
- The allegation was disproved by either independent witness(es) or physical evidence.
- The complaint was of police service, which is not a violation of Police Department policy.
- The complaint was deemed to have “judicial review,” such as a disputed parking citation.
- The facts and information are insufficient to permit resolution or warrant further investigation.
- The Complainant desired to retract the allegation(s).
- The actions of the officer regarding the allegation(s) were legal, necessary and proper under the circumstance.
- CPCC staff concurs with LBPD’s recommendation of “service” or additional training.
- The accused is no longer employed by the Long Beach Police Department.

NFA complaints can be re-evaluated or appealed to the full Commission if new information related to the original concern is found within one year of the complaint. Like all complaints, NFA complaints remain on file for the statutory period and may be considered when evaluating overall community/police relations.

2011 ALLEGATIONS AND FINDINGS

The CPCC has no control over the number of complaints it receives during a reporting period. A number of factors contribute to the increase/decrease in the number of citizen complaints, including public awareness of the Commission and its function, perception of police conduct toward the public, media focus and current community issues.

Of 230 cases, 479 allegations were reviewed in 2011. Staff closed 390 (81%) allegations with a No Further Action (NFA) finding.

The Commission rendered findings on 89 allegations in 2011.

COMPLAINT COMPARISONS

COMPLAINANTS BY RACE 2011

The percentage provided represents the total number of complainants, not the percentage of the total complaints. In some cases, there is more than one complainant per complaint, or in other cases, the racial background was not provided.

In 2011, 208 complainants identified their race.

	TOTAL	PERCENTAGE

Asian	9	4.0%
Caucasian	50	24.0%

According to the 2010 census, African-Americans represent 13.0% of the Long Beach population; Asians represent 12.6%; Caucasians represent 29.4%; Hispanics represent 40.8%; others represent 4.2%. The Commission does not track factors that might explain why there are more or less complaints from certain groups.

OBSERVATIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS

The Commission conveys concerns and recommendations to CPCC staff and to the LBPD throughout the year when issues come to its attention.

During this reporting period, the Commission convened a Community Relations Committee to recommend ways (1) to apprise the community of the CPCC as a viable community resource concerning allegations of police misconduct, and (2) to apprise community members of opportunities to apply to vacant CPCC seats. Outcomes included:

- Targeted mailings of the CPCC brochure to key community stakeholders and organizations listed in the Neighborhood Resource Guide.
- Hosted a CPCC Commissioner Meet and Greet where past and current Commissioners were available to share information about the CPCC.
- Increased visibility at community functions, including The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) meetings, The Lambda Democratic Club, The Role of Men of Color Leadership Development Institute, Leadership Long Beach, and The Center, to name a few.
- Invited VoiceWaves, youth leaders who utilize social media to share concerns and receive information, to share information with and receive information from the Commission.
- Attended the National Association for the Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement Annual Conference on Building Community Trust.
- Five expired Commission seats were filled.

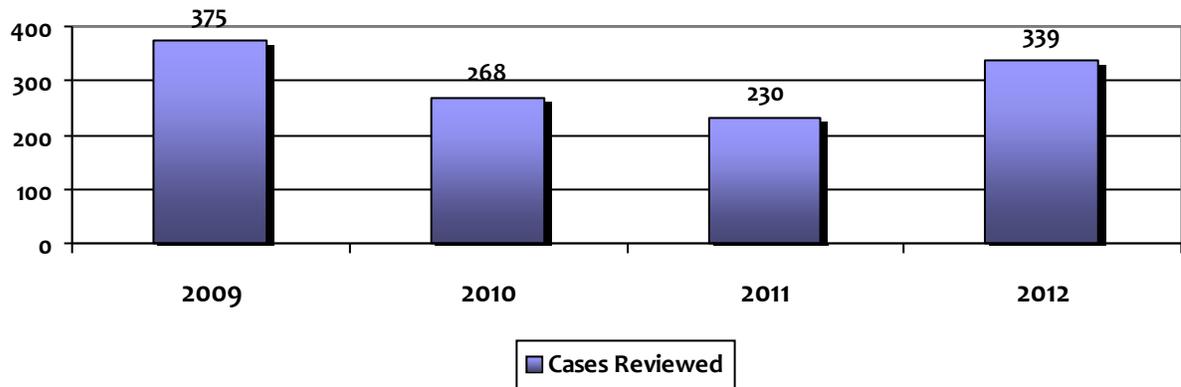

The Commission often hears criticism about the length of time that it takes to complete an investigation and render findings. This also raised the question about how the CPCC workload per year compares to the actual number of new complaints filed per year. During this reporting period, there has been an improvement in the time it takes to appropriately review less complex cases and advise the Complainant of the disposition. While complex investigations may still take up to one year to complete, less complex investigations are reviewed and closed within 60 days. The implementation of a stream-lined process for officers to respond to allegations has helped in this regard.

Commissioners recommend pursuing on-going community partnerships to hear from and share information.
