Past Events

Belmont Shore Christmas Parade

Saturday night, I participated in the the 34th Belmont Shore Christmas Parade. With the help of my wife, Cheryl, and daughter, Lauren, we passed out hundreds of candy canes to the parade attendees. Thanks to Circle Porsche for, once again, providing our official CD4 parade vehicle. Go Fourth!

"Lighting of the Letters" at Whaley Park

Thank you to the Greater Los Altos Area Neighborhood Association for bringing back a holiday tradition that had been lost for 40 years. On Sunday, we gathered at Whaley Park for the "Lighting of the Letters" in the front yards of each of the houses facing the park. Individual letters spell out "Happy New Year" and "Merry Christmas". GLANA's Michele Kreinheder has written a synopsis of the event listing and thanking all the participants on her facebook.

Don Temple Family Charitable Foundation Math Success Center

During a ribbon-cutting ceremony on December 2, Long Beach City College dedicated and renamed the Math Success Center on the Liberal Arts Campus in celebration of a $750,000 gift from the Don Temple Family Charitable Foundation. The facility is now the Don Temple Family Charitable Foundation Math Success Center. The donation is one of the largest gifts in the history of the college. The funds will be used for Long Beach College Promise scholarships and to create an endowment for innovative success initiatives in the Mathematics Department. The center is located on the southeast corner of Carson Street and Clark Avenue in Building V, the campus's newest addition. Marlene Temple is a supporter of many charitable causes throughout the City including Community Hospital Long Beach in the Fourth Council District.

City Council Meeting Recap

On Tuesday, the City Council voted to schedule a study session on the Federal Inspection Service (FIS) Feasibility Study at the City Council meeting next Tuesday, December 13, and a vote on the issue has been scheduled for January 24.

The vote on whether or not to move forward with the proposed facility to allow international flights at the Long Beach Airport was previously scheduled for December 13. Now, the vote will not take place until January, and next week will be an opportunity for information, questions and public comment.

LB Remembers Pearl Harbor

Wednesday evening, I attended the opening of Long Beach Remembers Pearl Harbor, an exhibition documenting the 1941 attack on the US. The Historical Society of Long Beach's (HSLB) exhibition chronicles local tidelands and maritime activities related to the early years of World War II and illustrates how ordinary people who lived in Long Beach were affected, and how the events are echoed in the city today. For more information about the exhibit please visit their website!

Daisy Lane Christmas Parade

Saturday night, I will be attending the 63rd Annual Daisy Avenue Christmas Tree Lane Parade. The parade began in 1953 as the brainchild of Gertrude Whittle. Ms. Whittle was able to persuade the Long Beach City Council and Council of Churches to help decorate the grass median on Daisy Avenue between Pacific Coast Highway and Willow Street with a Christmas Village and nativity scene. Soon after, many area residents began decorating their homes and the Daisy Avenue Christmas Tree Lane. As the event grew, the inclusion of more displays, entertainment nights, and a parade have shaped the tradition that we now know!

Palm Trees and Driveways

This morning, work commenced on two of the most highly anticipated projects in the 4th council district. What do palm trees on PCH and driveways on Atherton have in common? Nothing other than both projects are a result of residents calling our attention to issues that needed to be addressed. Thanks to the residents who reached out to our office... and thanks, also, for your patience.
