Long Beach Drive-In Dining Guidelines

The City of Long Beach is now allowing restaurants to begin offering drive-in dining. While most restaurants can begin offering this service without additional City approvals, some will have to obtain a Special Event Occasional Permit (OEP). Restaurants are prohibited from serving alcohol to customers dining in their vehicles. Gatherings outside of the vehicle are also not permitted at this time. With the exception of live performances, music and on-site entertainment are allowed as long as individuals remain in their vehicles and are physically distanced.

City approval not required if:

- Service is offered from restaurant's existing parking lot.
- Orders are taken at the car, online or by phone.
- Food is consumed in the car or taken home.

OEP required if:

- Parking areas are reconfigured.
- Additional seating is installed.
- Off-site public or private property is being used.
- On-site entertainment is offered. (Note: Live performances are not allowed at this time.)
