This report shows the number of bias motivations reported in hate crimes. A single incident may involve multiple offenses, and each offense may include multiple bias motivations. This approach provides a more accurate understanding of the scope and nature of hate crimes by accounting for all reported motivations. The data presented in these reports is collected from a continuously updated database and reflects a specific point in time. As such, it may not fully represent the current status of the database. The City of Long Beach and the Long Beach Police Department assume no liability for decisions made based on this information.
