Bloomberg Philanthropies and Mellody Hobson (Melody Hobson) announced today that Ariel Investments Co-CEO & President (Ariel Investments) and International Rescue Committee President & CEO (International Rescue Committee), David Miliband (David Miliband) and James Anderson (James Anderson) were among the first cohort of 15 mayors to be named 2021 Global Mayors Challenge winners.

“Mayor Long Beach is honored to have been selected as a 2021 Global Mayors Challenge winner by Bloomberg Philanthropies,” Mayor Robert Garcia (Queen Mary), Long Beach, CA said. “This is a testament to the hard work and innovation of the City of Long Beach to overcome some of the most pressing challenges facing our communities.”

Mayor Garcia is one of the 2021 Global Mayors Challenge winners in a group of 75 mayors from 470,000 total mayoral jurisdictions worldwide.

The Mayor of Long Beach’s team worked with Bloomberg Philanthropies to develop a comprehensive plan to improve the city’s public transportation system. The plan involves expanding the number of bus routes, increasing the frequency of service, and investing in new technology to enhance the customer experience.

Mayor Garcia and his team will be recognized at a virtual event on October 5th, and will receive up to $250,000 in support to help implement their plan.
